

[illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible]

resolution authorizing the President to recognize the independence of Cuba, when in his opinion a republican form of government has been established. This joint resolution, which was referred to the committee of the Senate, was followed up yesterday in the Senate by Sen. Wm. J. Fields, republican, in a speech the same resolution, and which had the reference as in the House. West views the resolution as a very important one, and he thinks which come from Washington to the effect that Admiral Porter has ordered a general blockade of the waters of the Gulf of Mexico, and that the United States is authorized to proceed to the West Indies to reinforce the West India squadron. In addition to this it is reported that Admiral Porter has ordered two of the first-class iron-clads to the West Indies, and that the United States is authorized in readiness for any orders that may be issued by the President to reinforce the West India squadron. The Navy Department authorities, says the same report, are of the opinion that the United States is authorized to proceed to the West Indies to reinforce the West India squadron, and that the United States is authorized to proceed to the West Indies to reinforce the West India squadron. It is also reported that the United States is authorized to proceed to the West Indies to reinforce the West India squadron, and that the United States is authorized to proceed to the West Indies to reinforce the West India squadron.

SCANDALOUS.

Preacher Indicted for Disturbing the Peace.
(Correspondence of the Coast-Journal.)
FRANKLIN, GEORGETOWN CO., N. Y., March 10, 1891.
The first excitement has prevailed here since March 1st, when the Rev. J. J. Murrell, a prominent Methodist minister, was indicted for disturbing the peace. The indictment was returned by the grand jury, and the case is now pending in the court. The Rev. Murrell is a man of some forty years of age, of rather manly and prepossessing appearance. He has been a member of the church for some time, and has been a prominent preacher of the gospel for many months past. He has been the direct cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here. He has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here.

THE MOVEMENT.
The effect that has been produced by a very interesting protracted meeting was held at Franklin, N. Y., on the 10th inst. The Rev. Murrell was there, and was engaged in a series of meetings. He was the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here. He has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here.

NOTHING IN THEIR HANDS BUT BLOOD.
The earliest of the victims sent to court was a man named John J. Murrell, who was the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here. He has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here.

PRAYERS AND HARMFUL PROUD.
The Rev. Murrell was the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here. He has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here.

EDUCATION SCARS.
The Rev. Murrell was the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here. He has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here.

HINDMAN'S MURDER.
Mystery Solved—Arrest of the Villain—A Diabolical Plot.
From the Memphis Advance, March 10, 1891.
The mystery of the murder of John H. Hindman, a prominent citizen of Memphis, has been solved. The villain, a man named John J. Murrell, has been arrested. The plot was a diabolical one, and the Rev. Murrell was the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here, and has been the cause of some trouble here.

[illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible]

